Leviahub lines up at Go International

Leviahub will be exhibiting its newest logistics offerings at this year's Go International in Milan, which will see various companies come together to learn about supply chains and logistics solutions. On 25 and 26 September, visitors can view Leviahub's stand B07 at the Allianz Mico Milano convention centre.

There, it will showcase its newest solutions and services specific to the logistics and freight forwarding business. By including flexible tech and modern software, Leviahub is looking to position itself for a changing market.

Go International will provide a platform for exchange and learning on this subject by bringing together diverse companies and facilitating internationalisation. The fair will also welcome other members of the Leviahub group such as Nova Systems, Ithings, Savino Solution and European Consulting Company. Leviahub aims to thus present its best solutions for logistics within and outside of Italy to major industry players. (mk)
